Market Overview

Demand in Warsaw is driven by increased adoption of hybrid cloud, data regulations and its role as a key gateway into neighboring countries.

Poland has developed into one of Central Europe's most appealing locations for foreign investment and connectivity linking Western and Eastern Europe. The economy continues to expand, where GDP growth remains strong in every quarter since 2007 whilst politically they are stable with a large international & domestic market.

Warsaw, the capital, is one of Europe's most dynamic metropolitan cities fueled by high levels of innovation, low costs, and a strong talent pool. Warsaw is poised to become one of Europe's digital heavyweights, enabling customers to be part of a highly connected digital ecosystem that includes Internet Exchange EPIX.
